I have a passion for reading. I spent time in public, sheared and personal libraries, searching the literature and the Internet, exchanging papers, reports, maps and information with colleagues and friends, photocopying, printing, reading and digesting information on landslide recognition, mapping, susceptibility and hazard assessment, risk evaluation and mitigation, planning and policy making, and related topics. The following list of references is the result of this work.

A star (“★”) shown at the end of a reference indicates that I am the author or a co-author of the listed paper, report or map.
