

Geotechnics for rockfall assessment in the volcanic island of Gran Canaria (Canary Islands, Spain)

Roberto Sarro<sup>1</sup>, Rosa María Mateos<sup>1</sup>, Paola Reichenbach<sup>2</sup>, Héctor Aguilera<sup>3</sup>, Adrián Riquelme<sup>4</sup>, Luis Enrique Hernández-Gutiérrez<sup>5</sup>, Alejandro Martín<sup>1</sup>, Anna Barra<sup>6</sup>, Lorenzo Solari<sup>6</sup>, Oriol Monserrat<sup>6</sup>, Massimiliano Alvioli<sup>2</sup>, José Antonio Fernández-Merodo<sup>1</sup>, Juan López-Vinielles<sup>1,7</sup>, Gerardo Herrera<sup>1</sup>

(1) Department of Natural Hazards. Geological Survey of Spain (IGME), Ríos Rosas, 23, Madrid, 28003, Spain. (2) Research Institute for Geo-Hydrological Protection (IRPI), National Research Council (CNR), Via Madonna Alta 126, I-06128 Perugia, Italy. (3) Department of Research on Geological Resources, Geological Survey of Spain (IGME), Ríos Rosas 23, Madrid, 28003, Spain (4) Department of Civil Engineering, University of Alicante P.O. Box 99, E-03080 Alicante, Spain. (5) Regional Ministry of Public Works, Government of the Canary Islands. Avda. Francisco La Roche, 35, 38001 Santa Cruz de Tenerife, Spain. (6) Centre Tecnològic de Telecomunicacions de Catalunya (CTTC/CERCA), Avinguda Carl Friedrich Gauss, 7, Castelldefels, 08860, Spain. (7) HEMAV SL, Carrer d'Esteve Terrades 1, 08860 Castelldefels, Spain.

Corresponding author: Roberto Sarro, Department of Natural Hazards. Geological Survey of Spain, Ríos Rosas 23, 28003, Madrid, Spain. r.sarro@igme.es.